NEW HOMES ROW

THUMBS DOWN: Residents give their verdict

(photo: HAR0803287)

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ANGRY residents have launched an online campaign against plans to concrete over fields and woodland west of Harlow to pave the way for a major new residential development.

Just one week after proposals to build hundreds of new homes on land north of Gilden Way were dealt a major blow by Harlow Council (see page 17), it appears the West Sumners project is back on the agenda for the first time since 2008.

Updated plans for the scheme, which could see up to 1,200 homes, a new school and mixed retail units built on the border between Harlow and Epping Forest, will go on display at two consultation events early next month, with developers keen to kickstart the project following years of delays.

But residents living in the Sumners area claim the proposals are unsustainable and have started an e-petition and online campaign at www.stopwestsumners.com to galvanise public opposition.

Campaign co-ordinator Mark Rowe, of Little Cattins, said the area lacked the infrastructure necessary to support such a large-scale development.

"We're in a fairly isolated corner of the town here with no direct links to motorways or rail stations," he said. "This is quite clearly the wrong place to build such a massive development."

"The impact on our already congested roads would be horrendous. Access to the site would be via Water Lane and Broadley Road so we'd have hundreds more cars coming through the Sumners estate every day."

One of the group's other main concerns is that a parcel of ancient woodland which is home to deer, foxes, water voles, snakes, owls and bats would be lost.

Hospice lottery winner gives back some of her winnings

A KIND-hearted double jackpot winner of St Clare Hospice's weekly lottery draw has given back some of her latest £1,000 prize

After winning the first prize for the second time in the past 10 months, lucky Kaye Fryer decided to donate £200 to the Hastingwood hospice to support its work providing palliative care.

"I think the work St Clare's do is incredible," said the mother-of-three of Finchmoor, Harlow. "What the hospice offers is just invaluable to so many people at such a difficult time in their lives."

She is now urging more people to take part in its weekly draws. "It is a great way to support the charity and you stand a chance of winning something yourself!" she added.

At present 6,000 people have signed up to play the lottery. Participants, who must be aged over 16, have a chance of winning a £1,000 jackpot, a £100 second prize or 40 runners-up prizes of £10 every week.

Details of the top two winning numbers are published in the Star every week.

Stray cat found in Harlow a long way from home

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A CAT called Tinker lived up to her name when she turned up in Harlow after going missing from her home in Somerset 175 miles away.

When Tina Haines saw the dishevelled black and white puss limping across a road in Coppice Hatch last week, she assumed it was a stray and took it to Toddbrook Vets in Harberts Road to see if they could help.

After locating a microchip on the malnourished moggie, veterinary staff were amazed to discover her owners lived in Crewkerne, a town nine miles from Yeovil.

"The cat was in an awful state when I found it, really dirty and thin," said Tina, of Abbotswood. "I couldn't just leave it so I took it to the vets hoping they would know what to do and asked them to update me on its progress."

"When they told me the next day the cat was from Somerset and had been missing for six weeks I was absolutely flabbergasted. I wonder how many lives it has lost in that time!"

BACK HOME: Gina and Scott with Tinker

Tinker's owners – Gina and Scott Woodland – rushed straight to Harlow when they received the good news that their beloved family pet had been found.

"Tinker was never really an outdoor cat so we were really upset when she suddenly went missing just before Christmas," Gina told the Star. "She is eight years old so in the end we thought she had gone somewhere to die."

"You can imagine our shock when Toddbrook called up over six weeks later to say they thought they had her in Harlow!"

She added: "I think it was quite a traumatic experience for her but she is recovering well and certainly making up for the food she missed!"

"We believe she must have got stuck in a delivery van or something like that but guess we'll never know for sure. If only she could talk and tell us!"

Vet Geoffrey Oliver said Tinker's adventure served as a good reminder to pet owners about the importance of micro-chipping their animals.

"It is an incredible story and all the better because of its happy ending," he said.

"Hopefully it will remind people about the importance of making sure their animals are identifiable so that in situations like this there is a chance of owners and pets being reunited."

Protest over new homes plan

"The woods have been there for hundreds of years and are teeming with all kinds of wildlife," said Mr Rowe. "We can't just let developers bulldoze their natural habitat."

The campaigners already have the support of Harlow MP Rob Halfon, who told the Star it should be up to residents to decide whether the plans go ahead.

"In response to numerous letters and emails from residents, I have recently met with the developers behind this project," he said. "As I said to them directly, families in the area are very worried about the impact on green fields, woodland, flora and fauna."

"My own long-held view is that local people should be in charge of local housing decisions and it should be up to Harlow people in Sumners whether or not things progress. There must be genuine consultation."

As the proposed site crosses the border between Harlow and Epping Forest districts, both authorities would need to give planning consent before building work could start.

Developers Crest Nicholson said the homes were needed to address the town's housing shortage and pointed out that the project mirrored the never-completed plans for Harlow's expansion drafted by Sir Frederick Gibberd back in 1974.

"Building at Sumners stopped in the 1980s before the original Gibberd vision was completed," said Sarah Conlan, Development Executive at Crest Strategic Projects, part of Crest Nicholson.

"In response to housing need in greater Harlow, we are proposing to extend Sumners with new access points and green corridors into West Sumners."

"We want people from Broadley Common and Sumners to look at the proposals and options before making up their minds."

The consultation events will take place at Sumners Leisure Centre on March 2 (6.30pm - 9pm) and March 3 (10am - 6pm).

Man accused of murder attempt

A MAN charged with attempted murder following an attack on an elderly man in Harlow has been remanded in custody by magistrates.

Unemployed Bradley Burnip (28), of Mead Lane, Hertford, appeared in court on Monday. He will appear at Chelmsford Crown Court on April 16.

Raymond Dodson (64), from Sheering, was found lying on a playing field between Mallows Green and The Maples at around 9pm last Monday. He had fractures to his jaw, cheekbones and eye sockets and both his hands were broken.

He is recovering from his injuries at Princess Alexandra Hospital.

Walk to raise funds in memory of Kerrie

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

FAMILY and friends of a Harlow teacher who died from cancer last year are holding a charity walk to raise funds in her memory.

After previously beating breast and liver cancer, 36-year-old Kerrie Fitz-John discovered the disease had returned early last year. She passed away in the summer.

Since then friends and family of Kerrie, who grew up in Harlow and worked at St Mark's West Essex Catholic School, have set up a trust in her name to raise money for breast cancer clinical trials at Princess Alexandra Hospital.

Although the group have already managed to raise some money, they are hoping their latest event – the Kerrie Fitz-John Memorial Walk – will kick off their efforts. "This is our first big fundraising event for the Kerrie Fitz-John Memorial

Trust and we are really excited about it," said treasurer Marie Shaw. "Everything has been properly organised including a special warm-up session before the walk. We now just need to get as many people as possible to register and help make it a success."

The 5km walk, which follows a route around Harlow Town Park, is taking place on Sunday (February 12) and shouldn't take longer than two hours to complete at a leisurely pace.

Marie said: "It really will be a bit of fun for all the family; even the dog can get involved."

"All money raised from the day will go towards funding clinical trials into breast cancer."

She added: "Kerrie was an amazing person whose life was tragically cut short by this devastating disease. It is so important we do all we can to beat it. I know it's what Kerrie would have wanted."

Registration for the walk, which starts next to The Greyhound pub in School Lane, starts at 9.30am with the walk commencing at 11am. The cost is £5 per adult, £3 for a child, £1 for a dog or £10 for the whole family.

For more information contact Marie on (01279) 444542.

Fun day in aid of sensory garden

BIG-hearted youngsters preparing to build a sensory garden for a Harlow school are hosting a fun day to raise money for the project.

As part of a Prince's Trust course, the 15 members of Team 45 also hope to decorate a communal wall at Longwood Primary in Paringdon Road to give the school a facelift.

The group, who are all aged between 17 and 24, say the fun day will include activities ranging from face painting and a bouncy castle to stalls and juggling clowns.

Spokesman James Rideout said: "It will be a lot of fun and all are welcome. We really hope as many people as possible will support us by popping along."

The fun day takes place at the school from 2-4.30pm tomorrow (Friday). The group is also appealing to local companies for any donations of equipment for the assignment. Anyone who can help should call 07949 068964.

Don't miss out on respite care grant

A LOCAL respite group for carers of adults with severe mental problems is urging its users to apply for a grant to help fund the services they need.

From the end of March this year the Essex Respite Association, like many charities, will no longer receive any funding from Essex County Council.

To help make up the shortfall, the organisation wants carers to apply for an ECC grant called a personalised budget, otherwise they could end up having to pay for services out of their own pocket.

"The problem that faces us here is if carers do not know about the personalised budget and do not apply," explained manager Kevin Edwards. "If they do not apply they will have to buy services from their own resources."

He added: "This budget is on top of any other benefits they receive and will not affect the benefits they get."

To find out more information about applying for personalised budget, visit the Essex County Council website at www.essex.gov.uk.

Winning numbers

THE winner of the £1,000 prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, February 3 is ticket holder 808218, who lives in Epping.

The second prize of £100 goes to the holder of ticket number 212005, who lives in Harlow.

Suzanne's fired up for volcanic challenge

A HARLOW woman has set her sights high to complete an explosive fundraising challenge when she attempts to climb three Italian volcanoes in four days.

After accomplishing a previous personal goal to lose three stone, Suzanne Harvey (34), of Bromley Close, decided she needed a new target to work towards.

"I had been looking for something for a while so when I heard about the Herts and Essex Air Ambulance 2012 Challenge Italy fundraiser it just seemed too good an opportunity to miss," she said.

To complete the challenge in June, Suzanne will be required to climb Mount Vesuvius in southern Italy – the volcano best known for the eruption that buried Pompeii – before taking an overnight boat ride to Stromboli for a steep trek to the summit. The challenge will then culminate on one of the world's most active volcanoes, Mount Etna.

"I am definitely apprehensive," said Suzanne. "I have never done anything like this before but I've almost reached the halfway point of my £2,000 fundraising target so there's definitely no turning back now!"

"I am really looking forward to it, though, and really pleased to be able to support the fantastic work of the air ambulance. It is one of those charities you never know when you are going to need but are so important when you do."

She added: "I would like to say a big thank you to all the local businesses that have already helped me with donations and anyone else who sponsors me; it is all hugely appreciated."

To sponsor Suzanne, visit www.justgiving.com/Suzanne-Harvey1.

Garage blocks to be sold off and replaced with housing

AGEING council-owned garage sites across Harlow are to be bulldozed to make way for new housing.

Harlow Council plans to offload 17 of the garage blocks to private developers and housing associations.

Under proposals approved by cabinet members last week, the council anticipates that more than 70 new homes could be provided, some of which will be made available for those on the housing register.

It will also insist that firms interested in taking on the project provide new building apprenticeships and other learning opportunities for local residents.

According to the council, the garage sites – all of which are more than 40 years old – are either derelict or underused and act as a magnet for anti-social behaviour, vandalism and fly-tipping.

Residents in each area earmarked for redevelopment – Arkwrights, Bushey Croft, Chippingfield, Church Leys, Collins Meadow, Fesants Croft, Felmongers, Halling Hill (two sites), Hookfield, Nicholls Field, Milwards, Stackfield, The Hides, The Hill, The Readings and Woodleys – are being consulted and all final plans will be subject to planning permission.

The sites are set to be advertised on the open market in the spring, with all money raised from their sale reinvested into the council's capital programme.

Councillor Clive Souter, portfolio holder for housing, said the project would create jobs as well as homes for local people.

"We want to see the developments provide a good mix of housing which includes homes built for those waiting on the housing register," he said.

"Creating apprenticeships where young people help build these new homes is also something we will be asking developers to sign up to.

"Many of these areas are sitting derelict or are underused attracting anti-social behaviour and we think the best use of these sites is to provide additional housing to regenerate these areas."

Council's refusal to grit road 'puts our kids at risk'

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertssexnews.co.uk

FURIOUS parents and school governors have accused Essex County Council of endangering the safety of pupils after refusing to grit the road outside a school for children with special needs.

Following the weekend's heavy snowfall, parents of children attending Harlow Fields were outraged to find that Tendring Road had not been gritted on Monday morning.

With many pupils requiring wheelchairs and other specialised mobility equipment, they said the county council should have adapted their gritting programme to prevent children and their parents from slips and falls.

Harlow Fields Association chairwoman Michelle Golding, whose son Zander (9) attends the school, said: "I am absolutely fuming that despite all our complaints year in, year out about this, Essex County Council is still refusing to make such a simple yet vital change to their usual gritting schedule.

"It is hard enough to get a severely autistic child out of the car and into their wheelchair on normal days, so trying to do it whilst constantly slipping on the ice after being forced to abandon the car up the other end of the road is just ridiculous.

"Then you have the minibuses carrying groups of these children sliding all over the road and the added difficulty of then getting all the kids safely off the bus and into school. It is so dangerous.

"I know the groundskeeper began clearing the pathways at 5am on Monday morning but as one man there was only so much he could do. Unfortunately the school does not have the funds to hire dedicated snow clearers."

School governor Mick Granger said the decision not to grit the road was disgusting, adding: "I am so angry that the county council is happy to put these vulnerable children at such risk.

"These kids do not have the same reactions or defence systems as you and me. If they fall over they risk serious injury and even death. It is disgusting and I will be doing all I can to put it right."

But an ECC spokeswoman insisted it was the school's responsibility to ensure safe access to the premises.

"Essex County Council understands the concerns of parents regarding the winter conditions however, we expect each school to take responsibility for their immediate environment and ensure safe access for parents, carers and pupils on to and around their property," she said.

"In periods of severe weather the council treats a precautionary road network in accordance with its Winter Service Operational Plan with the aim of keeping the strategic routes in the county free from snow and ice.

"The precautionary network consists of A roads, B roads, key rural link roads and roads served by frequent bus services. Resource prioritisation means ECC does not treat any roads that do not meet these criteria."

Police appeal after attempt to steal phone

POLICE investigating an attempted robbery of a woman near a children's play area in Harlow are appealing for witnesses.

The incident took place between 9.40pm and 10pm last Tuesday (January 31) as the victim was walking along the footpath leading from Hookfield towards Partridge Road.

As the victim approached the play area she was grabbed from behind by a man who demanded she hand over her mobile phone.

When she told him she did not have one he let her go and ran off across the field in the direction of Barn Mead.

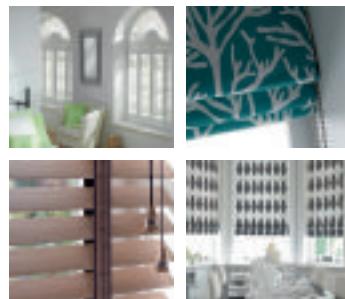

The suspect is described as white, in his late 30s of stocky build and about 6ft tall. He was wearing a black hooded top, black jogging bottoms, black trainers and a black scarf which he used to cover his face.

Anyone with information should contact PC Garry Bray at Harlow police station on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

New machine to speed up post-op treatment of PAH cancer patients

A PIONEERING technique that will speed up treatment for women suffering from early-stage breast cancer is being adopted by Princess Alexandra Hospital.

It has purchased a £500,000 'IntraBeam' machine which transforms a six-week course of radiotherapy into a single half-hour "shot" designed to kill any cancerous cells remaining after surgery.

The machine works by delivering a concentrated beam of radiation via the surgical incision while patients are still under anaesthetic on the operating table.

The process, expected to be available to doctors from April this year, replaces a course of radiotherapy that would usually last several weeks and require around 20 hospital visits. Patients will then be able to move on to drug-based therapies, chemotherapy or hormonal therapy, as required.

Oncologists at the hospital have hailed the new procedure as a major step forward. Dr Julian Singer, said: "We are very excited about this advance which will improve the quality of life of the women we treat at what can be a difficult time for them.

"They can have effective, quick and convenient radiotherapy at their local hospital, without the need to travel to a specialist centre much further away."

Some £50,000 towards the cost of the new equipment was raised through donations from the general public and a number of fundraising events.

After 21 years I will miss all the banter

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

AS professionals used to providing a quick response, it came as no surprise to hear from some Old Harlow Red Shed firefighters about our recent article on the retained crew.

Ian Darrell, who only left the service a couple of months ago, was the first to get in touch after spotting himself in the group photograph.

"I am the fireman standing in the back row furthest to the right," said 58-year-old Ian. "I served with the Old Harlow crew for 21 years and know a lot of the men in the picture, many of whom are still retained firefighters."

Although Ian wasn't working on the night when the crew rescued the frozen donkey which had fallen into a swimming pool – referred to by Tony Constable in the original article – he says he has still had his fair share of memorable callouts.

"I'll always remember one huge fire near Harlow Mill which took three days and 15 fire engines to put out," he said. "And quite recently we had a Jack Russell dog that was stuck under a heap of rubble. We had to slowly dig him out with our hands; he was absolutely fine in the end."

Ian says he'll miss the banter with "the boys" but is enjoying having a full night's sleep again since leaving the service. "The job requires a lot of commitment and can have you up at all hours through the night," he said.

"I have enjoyed my time as a retained firefighter but felt 21 years was probably enough."

Jeff Collins, who is pictured second from the left in the front row, also got in touch after being told about the article by nephew Colin Filer.

Still serving as a retained firefighter after almost 30 years, Jeff says he has also seen his share of unusual incidents.

"We could be up against anything from plane crashes at North Weld to cows stuck in swimming pools in this job," he said. "I think one incident that has always stuck in my mind is when we received a callout for a lady who was stuck in a precarious situation on a bed. You can imagine what everyone was thinking!

"It turned out she had got out the bath and as she sat on her bed it broke and impaled a spring into her leg! We had to cut her free, but she saw the funny side of the callout in the end."

➔ All 1,600 Harlow Council workers are to be given advice on how to cope if they make contact with someone with AIDS. District medical officer Frank Murphy said that although numbers of people in the town with the disease were small, it was "theoretically" possible it could reach epidemic proportions.

➔ A last-ditch attempt failed to save the unemployment centre on Tuesday. It was made by Harlow MP Jerry Hayes at the House of Commons. Unemployment minister John Lee would not agree to keep the Wych Elm centre open as he could not get assurances that political activists would be ousted.

➔ Local traffic cop Jim Gordon became a midwife when a couple he stopped for speeding unexpectedly produced another passenger. Baby Charlotte was delivered on the back seat of her parents' car by the police officer as it sped along the M11 en route to Princess Alexandra Hospital.

➔ The death sentence hanging over the pigeons of Broad Walk has been suspended after details about Harlow Council's planned cull were leaked in advance. The birds were set to be shot on Monday by marksmen with rifles because of the damage caused to buildings.

NOSTALGIA UPDATE: Spring Hill Primary School

STORIES about a Harlow Primary school that closed in the late 1970s are still dropping onto the Nostalgia desk.

But this week it wasn't former pupils sharing memories about their time at Spring Hills Primary but the teacher who appeared in the class photograph originally sent in by Stan Neville.

Mrs Brenda Cotton writes: "I have been following the letters about Spring Hills with interest since my daughter, Sara, told me about the photograph."

"It is hard to put names to faces after all this time so I have enjoyed reading the information sent in, but I still remember all the faces. It was certainly one of the best classes I taught!"

Mrs Cotton, who went on to become headmistress at Little Parndon School after Spring Hills closed, asked Nostalgia to pass on her regards to all her former pupils and particularly to Stan and his family. "Stan's wife, Shirley worked at the school at the same time that I was there so my husband and I knew them both well," she explained. "It was a lovely school and a great shame when it closed. I have very fond memories of the families in the area and the children I taught there."

Join the race and you will help to save lives

EVERY little helps in the fight against cancer. That is the message from organisers of this year's Harlow Race for Life.

With a target of persuading more than 2,800 women to take part in May's event, they are keen to highlight the important role every participant plays.

Event manager Lucy Hynes explained: "Every two minutes in the UK someone is told they have cancer. We are working tirelessly to find new ways to beat the disease but of course that needs to be funded, which is where the people of Harlow really come in."

"Every individual woman who signs up to this year's Race for Life will be playing a valuable role in helping more cancer sufferers to survive. Whether they then go on to raise £20 or £200, every penny will be playing a vital part in the fight against cancer."

This year's Race for Life, which is once again being supported by the Star, takes place in Harlow Town Park on Sunday, May 20. It is open to all women regardless of ability size or age and those taking part can walk, jog or run either a 5km or 10km route.

"Race for Life is not about being fast or fit," said Lucy. "It is a celebration of hope. So come on ladies, sign up today and do your bit!"

The entry fee for both the 10km and 5km events is £14.99 for adults and £10 for under 16s. To sign up, log on to www.raceforlife.org or call 0871 641 1111.

Violent thug given longer jail sentence

A FORMER boxer who was jailed for kidnapping and terrorising his ex-girlfriend during a harrowing ordeal in which he broke her nose and stamped on her head has had his "unduly lenient" sentence increased.

Joe Mills (21) was sent to prison for two years after he was convicted at Chelmsford Crown Court last September of kidnapping Sophie Johnson, of Hart Road, Harlow, and assaulting her causing actual bodily harm.

He also admitted a separate offence of assault causing actual bodily harm which resulted in a total sentence of three years and three months.

But three Appeal Court judges have agreed with the Solicitor General Edward Garnier that the sentence was too soft and increased it by two years to five years and three months.

The court was told that Ms Johnson had broken up with Mills some time before the attack, fearing his rages and believing him to be "violent and controlling".

Mills, of Hutton Close, Hertford, became enraged when he saw a Facebook entry suggesting that he had not been faithful to her during their relationship.

He lured her to a meeting place near Harlow Mill rail station and launched a vicious onslaught during which he punched her in the eye and fractured her nose.

Mills also dragged Ms Johnson along the street and threatened to throw her onto the tracks, asking her if she "preferred the fast or slow train".

After the attack he refused to take her to hospital despite her bloodied face, instead taking her to a friend's house in Bishop's Stortford where he stamped on her head. Eventually he took her back to her parents' house.

In addition to his new sentence, Mills must also serve a two-year extended licence period during which he can be recalled to prison if he reoffends after leaving jail.

Lady Justice Rafferty, sitting with Mr Justice Maddison and Mr Justice Holman, said Mills had subjected Ms Johnson to a prolonged ordeal which became a chronicle of physical and mental misery.

She also noted Mills' had a record of violence which included an attack on a man he flung by his hair into a car windscreen.

Lions club's gift for Paralympic hopeful

A HARLOW community group has stepped in to help a local disabled athlete achieve his dream of competing in this year's Paralympic Games.

Members of the Harlow Lions Club were so inspired by wheelchair racer Richard Chiassaro when he was asked to talk to the group that they decided to present him with a cheque for £500.

President Ronni Ayres explained: "We were very impressed by Richard's determination and that not only is he training for himself but also coaching a large group of disabled children and young people free of charge."

"We passionately believe this young man, who has so much determination to succeed, deserves our support and that of the town and country he wishes to represent."

Members handed the cheque to Richard, who is currently ranked second in the country for 200m and 400m wheelchair racing, at Mark Hall Sport Centre on Monday.

Richard, who will find out if he has been picked for the GB team in June, thanked the club for its generosity.

Roadshow aims to cook up interest in leftovers

FAMILIES eager to stretch their household budgets can learn how to make the most of their leftovers when an Essex County Council-backed roadshow rolls into Harlow next week.

The roadshow - part of the authority's Love Food Hate Waste campaign - will set up near Sports Direct in the Water Gardens next Friday (February 17) to offer advice to shoppers with cookery demonstrations and free samples of some of the dishes created.

With 7.2 million tonnes of domestic food thrown away in the UK each year leaving the average family £50 out of pocket at the end of every week, the county council hopes to encourage people to adopt practical ways of cutting down on waste.

Kevin Bentley, cabinet member for economic development and waste, said: "We are a county of keen recyclers, but it is important that we keep looking for new ways to reduce our food waste."

"These roadshows are excellent to get some inspiration for easy and tasty leftover recipes that you can try at home and also great fun. I urge everyone to come along if they can."

The roadshow will be in Harlow from 9.30am-3pm.

Star readers' photographs capture all the beauty and fun of a winter wonderland

IT might have caused havoc on the roads and railways, but the snow that blanketed Harlow over the weekend transformed the town into a winter wonderland for those determined to make the most of the conditions.

Some children even got the day off on Monday after three schools – Katherines, Latton Green Primary and St Mark's West Essex Catholic – closed for the day, while Mark Hall Specialist Sports College opened for pupils in Years 10 and 11 only.

But their joy was not shared by motorists and rail passengers, with traffic grinding to a halt in parts of the town over the weekend and trains to and from Harlow Town Station experiencing delays of up to 40 minutes.

Despite the treacherous driving conditions, the number of traffic accidents remained relatively low across the county. Essex Police and the East of England Ambulance Service attended just 11 collisions between Saturday night and Monday morning.

This was in no small part down to the efforts of Essex County Council's fleet of gritters, which were out in force over the weekend to ensure main roads throughout the town remained clear of snow and ice despite temperatures plummeting as low as -4 degrees Celsius.

Harlow Council was also busy making sure footpaths and pedestrianised zones in priority areas including the town centre, neighbourhood shopping hatches, local health centres and sheltered housing complexes were gritted, while waste and recycling collections scheduled for Monday continued with minimal disruption.

Other services including Pets' Corner, Parndon Wood Nature Reserve, the Leah Manning Centre and Contact Harlow remained operational despite the inclement weather, and funeral services at Parndon Wood Crematorium went ahead as planned after new operators Westerleigh used a snow plough to clear access roads to the site. Council leader Andrew Johnson told the Star: "Council staff and contractors worked hard to continue providing services to minimise disruption for residents.

"The council has a stockpile of grit in preparation for bad weather so street cleaners were out on Sunday and Monday gritting to ensure that the main public areas are safe for residents.

"Waste and recycling collections faced some disruptions due to icy conditions but we will work hard to catch up as soon as possible."

Meths burn incident 'a cry for help'

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsexnews.co.uk

MYSTERY still surrounds the death of a woman who died from burns two days after she was found in a parked car.

An inquest failed to reveal clearly the circumstances which resulted in the death of 53-year-old Jane Legg, but assistant deputy coroner Tina Harrington ruled she never intended to take her own life.

She described what had happened as a "cry for help".

The inquest held in Chelmsford on Thursday heard that on April 7 last year the emergency services were involved in a chemical incident involving a car parked near Mrs Legg's home in Long Ley, Harlow.

After suspicions that chemicals were involved the crews took precautions by donning special suits before approaching the vehicle containing Mrs Legg.

In the end it turned out that the chemical smell emanating from the vehicle was methylated spirits.

The court was told that after she was rescued from the car – which also contained smoking material – Mrs Legg was taken to Broomfield Hospital at Chelmsford where she died two days later from complications caused by the extensive burns she had suffered.

Inspector Kevin Diable-White said police had been alerted by a neighbour and when police approached the vehicle there was a "strong smell of some sort of chemical".

He said new procedures were in place when dealing with chemical-related suicides to prevent officers "becoming victims themselves".

He added that if there were any suspicions of chemicals being involved, police were

Woman treated for burns after chemical scare

TRAGEDY: Star, April 7, 2011

under instructions to back away and request the attendance of hazardous substances teams.

Paramedics were called and, wearing protective equipment, treated Mrs Legg for up to an hour at the scene.

Ambulance service operations manager Neil Peachey told the inquest they had not known what they were dealing with.

Mrs Legg's son, Anthony, said his mother may have bought the methylated spirits or taken it from a shed. "She may have drunk some and realised what she had done and panicked," he said. "She was a smoker and the vapours may have ignited."

Recording a narrative verdict, Mrs Harrington said: "Mrs Legg died as a result of the incident after finding the means to harm herself as a cry for help."

"I am satisfied she did not mean to take her own life."

Raising profile of apprenticeships

YOUNGSTERS preparing for the world of work have been finding out more about the opportunities available to them at a series of National Apprenticeship Week events at Harlow College this week. Starting on Monday with an apprentice fair, the college has been hosting a range of hands-on workshops in skills ranging from plumbing to electrical engineering to give schoolchildren a taste of what to expect should they choose an apprenticeship. The last of the workshop sessions takes place today (Thursday) while tomorrow there will be a breakfast event for local firms to find out how taking on apprentices can boost their business. College principal Colin Hindmarch said: "With youth unemployment at such an alarming level, apprenticeships have never been more important. "But it's also important that young people and employers get the right information, and ensure they are using a quality provider. Our success rates speak for themselves. "National Apprenticeship Week is the time when all eyes are on apprenticeships and it's all about raising the profile among employers, individuals, teachers, parents and the media."

Crossing near roundabout is a danger to road users

SIR, I would like to offer my agreement to the comments from J.M. Gillespie about the pedestrian crossing next to the Leisurezone (Letters, February 2).

It does indeed stay red for a very long time and adds to already terrible congestion by the Asda roundabout during evening rush hour.

This also moves me on to another pedestrian crossing at Tillwicks Road not far from The Phoenix public house. That crossing is far too close to the roundabout and is, in my opinion, dangerous. The amount of times I've seen close calls there is very scary.

Cars just leaving the roundabout suddenly brake and this causes chaos on the roundabout. I use the number 10 bus from Church Langley and the bus often cannot join the roundabout because a gridlock there prevents other vehicles from joining it.

I also fear for pedestrians using the crossing because a driver who is not familiar with the area will probably not be expecting to be confronted with traffic lights on the exit to a roundabout. It wouldn't surprise me if somebody gets knocked down.

I really do struggle to understand how there aren't some kind of safety regulations that prevent a pedestrian crossing being installed so close to a roundabout exit. I know pedestrians need somewhere to cross but if it isn't safe then it defeats the object.

Can't we afford simple test that could save babies lives

SIR, I am in total shock after reading the story about the Harlow dad's crusade to raise awareness about the bacterial infection Group B Streptococcus (Star, January 26).

I moved back to the UK from Australia in 2010 to be with my family. My son was born in Australia and this simple test was given to me during my pregnancy, along with all the relevant information. I did not carry it but if I had at least I would have been given the antibiotics to ensure my son's safety. Considering one-in-three mothers carry it, testing is absolutely vital. I cannot believe this test is not carried out in the UK. Are we not a developed country?

Has the NHS now reached the stage where it allows 75 babies a year to die to save money? Can someone please tell me if I have moved back to a Third World country?

Why should we have to foot bill for digital TV switchover?

SIR, I noticed there was an information van in the town centre on Friday offering advice about the switchover to digital television. It appears that those of us who are on the cable system – most of Harlow I think – might have a problem as the council and Virgin have not yet resolved who is responsible.

So does that mean we will lose connection or have to pay for aerials? If it is the latter, I for one do not think householders should pay. It should be down to whoever came up with the idea of this digital i.e. the government.

When we first came to Harlow no-one was allowed aerials, hence the cable system. As many of us are now senior citizens we can't afford it.

A council response would be appreciated as they haven't got long to resolve the issue.

Apprenticeships were an important route to work

SIR, When I started work just before the war the availability of apprenticeships was a very important route into a good job.

The loss of apprenticeships after the war was a big mistake. They helped a lot of my friends from ordinary backgrounds to build a decent life for themselves.

So good luck to Robert Halfon for bringing so many new apprenticeships to our town. Whatever your politics are, he is a hardworking MP.

We must change attitude to litter

SIR, Litter is a culture that has developed in this country over recent years and is the result of lack of education and/or bad parenting.

As your correspondent Jerry Crawford said last week (Letters, February 2), this culture manifests itself in total lack of concern for the environment.

At this time of year when some shrubs are bare, the problem is more visible. A walk up Church Langley Way from Tesco shows up the bottles, cans, sandwich wrappers and general rubbish. I have seen schoolchildren dumping the rubbish and when I mentioned it I was abused with vile language by boys whose voices had not even broken.

The other favourite dumping ground is London Road between Gilden Way and New Hall. It is no coincidence that both routes are on the way home from a secondary school.

Unless there is a change of attitudes we will never be without litter, no matter how many bins are provided.

Quite frankly I shudder to think what response a litter warden would get from the litterbugs even if empowered to demand names and addresses.

The council could clear all the above mentioned rubbish before it becomes invisible when leaves return to the shrubs, but I'm not holding my breath.

C.Hempenstall
Ashworth Place, Harlow

SIR, Further to Jerry Crawford's request last week for litter patrols, this is a great idea.

Church Langley Residents' Association organises these monthly on Sunday mornings, along with various other initiatives to bring people together and encourage a community spirit.

Paul Orton
Church Langley Residents' Association

Don't forget Stan, New Town was built on green fields

SIR, I have much sympathy for the residents of Gilden Way whose homes may be overshadowed by new development (Star, February 2), but Stan Newens' position perplexes me.

As a firebrand Socialist in the late 1940s and early 1950s he quite rightly was in favour of the building of Harlow New Town. The green fields then were of little consequence.

Now he objects to homes on similar green fields for the grandchildren of the original inhabitants. Come on, Stan – be consistent.

Patrick Streeter
Matching Green, Harlow

We must stop Germany and France taking over Europe

SIR, As I am sure your readers are aware, in a recent House of Commons debate MPs were whipped into line on the EU referendum. Robert Halfon sat on his hands despite earlier speeches to the contrary.

Having failed to tax the City of London, the EU is now trying by the back door. Up till now education has been the sole matter for the member state but that is changing.

Now the latest idea is for EU Heritage to appear on monuments, including war memorials. Do you want this?

Napoleon and Hitler could not take over European countries, so France and Germany are doing it together. Do not let them; campaign for a referendum now.

D.A. Crane
Little Brays, Harlow

No excuse for the bags of dog poo left on cycle path

SIR, I went for a lovely walk with my dog today and had forgotten how quickly you leave the noise of the town behind and are surrounded by trees.

I walked through the woods opposite the town and onto the cycle track which runs past the old Passmores School and towards Latton Bush. I was appalled by how much dog poo was on the path – and we're not talking small piles either!

There is a distinct lack of bins down the cycle path but that is no excuse for the bags of poo hanging from the trees.

Why bag the poo if you're going to throw it in the bushes anyway? If your dog goes on the path, think of the families that use these paths and at least kick it into the bushes if you don't have a bag. Poo on your shoe is better than in a child's mouth.

The steps we should take to tackle obesity

ARE you one of the many whose New Year resolution was to undo the excesses of Christmas by shedding a few pounds? If you have managed to slim down a bit you're helping to address a major national issue.

British waistlines are expanding. It's estimated that in this country at least 60 per cent of all adults and 30 per cent of children are overweight. In fact, nearly one in four (25 per cent) adults is classified as obese.

As many as 30,000 people die prematurely every year from obesity-related conditions. Some experts believe the condition is responsible for more ill health than smoking.

Being significantly overweight is linked to a wide range of health problems including diabetes, heart disease, high blood pressure, arthritis, some cancers, sleeplessness, depression and infertility.

There's a financial price, too. The Government estimates that obesity costs the NHS more than £4bn a year. This could more than double by 2050 if we carry on as we are.

Tackling obesity

So what can we do about it? The first step is to find out whether you have a real weight problem by calculating your body mass index (BMI).

This is surprisingly easy to do but you do need to know your height and how much you weigh. Your BMI is your weight (pounds or kilograms) divided by your height (inches or metres).

If you put in the information, the NHS Choices website will do the sum for you at www.nhs.uk/Tools/Pages/Healthyweightcalculator.aspx. Your BMI score will then give you a rating as follows:

Below 18.5: Underweight
18.5-24.9: Normal
25-29.9: Overweight
30 and above: Obese

The best way to tackle obesity is to not put on too much weight in the first place by having a healthy diet and regular exercise. Experts recommend vigorous exercise such as brisk walking, swimming or cycling five times a week for 20-30 minutes. But that alone will not help you lose weight if you're still taking in too many calories.

Often it is the snacking between meals that causes the real damage.

The risk of diabetes

For people who are seriously overweight, the risk of becoming diabetic is significant. The body becomes unable to manage sugar levels properly, leading to a wide range of potentially dangerous health problems.

Diabetes is becoming increasingly common as obesity increases, making up an ever bigger part of the NHS's workload. Yet it is thought that hundreds of thousands of people have the condition without knowing it.

If you are overweight, it is important to watch out for possible symptoms – extreme thirst, frequent trips to the toilet, tingling or numbness in the hands or feet, dry and itchy skin. If you notice any of these signs, go and see your GP.

Being diagnosed with diabetes can be worrying but once you know you have the condition it can usually be managed through regular checks and a healthy lifestyle that controls sugar levels . . . which brings us back to that New Year's resolution!

For more information on diabetes, go to www.nhs.uk/diabetes.

WIN Tickets to see Singin' In The Rain

FOLLOWING its critically acclaimed, sold-out run at the Chichester Festival Theatre, Singin' In The Rain has now opened at London's Palace Theatre.

And this week we are giving you the chance to win one of five pairs of tickets to the show.

It's the roaring 1920s and silent movie stars are the biggest names in the world. Don Lockwood has it all – a string of hit films and a studio-engineered romance with the most beautiful actress in town.

But with the new phenomenon of the talking picture on the way and a chance meeting with a talented young chorus girl set to steal his heart, things are about to change for Don and for Hollywood forever.

With all the charm, romance, comedy and tinsel town glamour of one of the world's best-loved films, Jonathan Church's new production features a glorious score including the classics Good Morning, Make 'em Laugh, Moses Supposes and, of course, the legendary Singin' In The Rain.

With stylish, soaring choreography from Andrew Wright and Simon Higlett's sumptuous set design, Singin' In The Rain will shower you with everything you could ever want in a hit West End musical!

For the chance to win a pair of tickets simply answer the question on the competition coupon and return it to: Singin' In The Rain Competition, Harlow Star, PO Box 268, Cambridge, CB24 6HF by Wednesday, February 15.

Alternatively you can enter via our dedicated competition link at www.harlowstar.co.uk. Be sure to enter 'Star Singin' In The Rain Competition' in the competition line or your entry will be discounted.

Terms & Conditions

Prizes are non-refundable and non-transferable and not for resale. Tickets subject to availability. All transportation is the responsibility of the prizewinners.

WIN Pairs of tickets to Rock of Ages

ROCK of Ages is the raucous new addition to West End theatre and a worldwide smash-hit musical starring Justin Lee Collins and X-Factor winner Shayne Ward.

It features a hilarious mix of 30 eyebrow-scorching tunes, including Don't Stop Believin', We Built This City, The Final Countdown, Wanted Dead or Alive, Here I Go Again, Can't Fight This Feeling and I Want To Know What Love Is.

Set in LA's infamous Sunset Strip in 1987, Rock of Ages tells the story of Drew, a boy from South Detroit, and Sherrie, a small-town girl, who are both in LA to chase their dreams of making it big and falling in love.

Rock of Ages takes you back to the times of big bands with big egos playing big guitar solos and sporting even bigger hair! This five-time Tony Award-nominated musical is now being made into a movie starring Tom Cruise.

For the chance to win one of five pairs of tickets to the show at the Shaftesbury Theatre, simply answer the question on the competition coupon and return it to: Rock of Ages Competition, Harlow Star, PO Box 268, Cambridge, CB24 6HF by Wednesday, February 15.

Alternatively you can enter via our dedicated competition link at www.harlowstar.co.uk. Be sure to enter 'Star Rock of Ages Competition' in the competition line or your entry will be discounted.

If you are not one of our lucky winners, you can still book tickets for the show. Visit www.rockofagesmusical.co.uk for full details of performance times and ticket prices.

Terms & Conditions

Tickets valid Monday-Thursday and Friday 5.30pm performances until February 29 (excluding February 13-17).

There is no cash alternative to the prizes.

Prizes are non-refundable and non-transferable and not for resale. Tickets subject to availability.

All transportation is the responsibility of the prizewinners.

Council to fight housing scheme

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Council has vowed to fight plans to build up to 1,200 homes on land bordering Old Harlow after councillors unanimously voted to oppose the scheme.

Members of the authority's development management committee were applauded by more than 120 anti-development protestors sitting in the public gallery during a special meeting convened last Wednesday to discuss outline proposals for the project.

Although the council has lost its power to approve or reject the application after the development consortium behind the plans lodged an appeal to the Government's Planning Inspectorate on the grounds of non-determination, the authority will now seek legal representation to state its case at an external planning inquiry.

Its main objections will focus on the "prematurity" of the application in advance of a forthcoming Governmental review of regional planning blueprints as well as concerns over encroachment onto Green Belt land, increased traffic and the proposed development's impact on local healthcare and educational facilities.

Speaking after the meeting, committee chairwoman Shona Johnson said: "We had a number of issues and concerns with the proposal."

"The community presence at the meeting clearly shows the strength of feeling among residents about this application."

"While it is no longer down to Harlow Council to determine this application, we hope the inspector will take into account our concerns at appeal."

Residents wanting to object to the proposed development must send details of their concerns to the Planning Inspectorate by March 12 at the latest.

For more information on how to make a submission, log on to www.planningportal.gov.uk or call 0117 372 6372.

FIRE SCENE:
The house in Old House Lane from where a family was evacuated

Family evacuated after house fire

A FAMILY of six from Roydon have been forced out of their home after it was damaged in a fire at the weekend.

Firefighters arrived at the scene in Old House Lane shortly before midnight on Sunday.

Two crews from Harlow and one from Epping used breathing apparatus and three hose reel jets to battle the flames, eventually extinguishing the fire after a two-hour operation.

The blaze started in an extension before spreading into the roof void of the house, causing sufficient damage to prevent the family from returning to their home.

A man suffering from the effects of smoke inhalation was treated at the scene by paramedics.

Top of the crocs

SCIENTISTS have discovered the fossilised remains of an ancient supercrocodile that stalked the Earth 95 million years ago.

Nicknamed 'Shieldcroc' on account of its giant armour-plated head, the fearsome beast may have grown to a whopping length of nine metres - almost twice the size of their modern-day descendants.

Researchers hope that by finding out more about the ancient species they can help protect today's crocodiles. They think that Shieldcroc's thick-skinned shielded head could have been used to attract mates, frighten enemies and even control how hot or cold it was.

It's also believed the long snout, which could have measured up to one-and-a-half metres, may have been used as a trap to catch unsuspecting fish and other prey.

"It is possible that it lay in wait until an unsuspecting fish swam in front of it," researcher Nick Gardner told reporters. "It then simply opened its mouth and ate the fish without a struggle, eliminating the need for strong jaws."

The Shieldcroc fossils were discovered in the African country of Morocco. It's thought the unusual looking creatures would have lived around the same time as many species of dinosaur.

Advice on legal services in comfort of your own home

INHERITANCE Legal Services Limited has a team of local advisers who provide advice to clients all around the UK.

They help clients write their wills, reduce inheritance tax liabilities, set up lasting powers of attorney and arrange protective family trusts along with other related legal services.

The company's legal advisers will visit you in the comfort of your own home either during the day or in the evening. They will discuss your priorities and concerns and advise you on the best options available to set up your estate correctly.

With their help you then decide what you would like to do.

Inheritance Legal Services are committed to providing a first class service to their clients which is reflected in the number of referrals they receive. They are members of the Society of Will Writers and comply strictly with their professional code of conduct.

Specialists in writing of wills and property trusts

THE Will Practice, based in Sawbridgeworth, is a small legal practice specialising in will writing and property trusts (which can save your home from being taken by others).

The Will Practice provides homes visits at no extra charge if required or you can have your instructions taken while enjoying a cup of tea in the company's cosy office overlooking the river.

The company is headed by Gary Malyon, who is a member of the Institute of Legal Executives and is thus regulated by ILEX Professional Standards.

It is important to have your will written by somebody who has had proper legal training and is regulated. "Integrity is our founding principle" says Gary. "When somebody decides to make a will with us they know the cost of the will is fixed and there are no nasty surprises."

"We provide discounts for senior citizens and don't try to sneak ourselves in as executors of the will either."

Roydon Marina Village

Roydon Marina Village are pleased to announce that we can now provide facilities and catering for Funeral Wakes at Hendersons.

We recognise that organising a funeral is a very sad and difficult time and that in times of bereavement, the stress of planning needs to be eliminated.

At Henderson's we are dedicated to providing a professional and high standard of service allowing family and friends to celebrate the life of their loved one.

With our vast amount of experience we are able to create bespoke packages for up to 200 guests on a catering or non catering basis. Catering options include a finger buffet or a fork buffet both of which can be accommodated to meet any specific allergies or dietary needs. Depending on the number attending, the function area can offer a spacious setting to host large groups or, alternatively, can be partitioned off creating a more private and intimate venue for smaller gatherings. The room is equipped with its own private bar and designated bar staff that are polite and respectful towards the circumstances.

Hendersons is set within Roydon Marina Village's picturesque surroundings, the function suite itself being situated next to the beautiful canal and weir forming a tranquil environment that is ideal for people in mourning.

THE PLAYHOUSE (01279) 431945
Playhouse Square, Harlow

>>drama The world's greatest fictional detective Sherlock Holmes and sidekick Dr Watson are on the trail of a fearsome beast stalking the wilds of Dartmoor as Global Productions return to The Playhouse tomorrow (Friday) with a thrilling new adaptation of The Hound of The Baskervilles. The show runs until Sunday, with performances starting at 7.30 pm (2.30pm Sunday matinee). Tickets cost £15.50 (£13.50 concessions).

>>comedy Drink in the madcap musical mirth of hotly-tipped stand-up comic Simon Munnelly when he brings his new show to the Playhouse Studio tomorrow (Friday). An extravagant mess of foaming bubble hats, bad guitar riffs, rib-tickling monologues and an ambitious one-man punk musical about the R101 airship of the 1930s, the performance starts at 8pm and tickets cost £13.

>>comedy Give the gift of laughter on Valentine's Day (Tuesday) as a witty one-man show based on John Gray's educational best-seller Men Are From Mars, Women Are From Venus unlocks the secret to understanding the opposite sex. The show starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £16 (£28 per couple).

>>comedy A dazzling new show embodying the true spirit of the Emerald Isle comes to Harlow on Wednesday in a flurry of brilliantly-choreographed dance routines, astounding vocals and beautiful music. For those up for the craic, Celtic Dream starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £20 (£18 concessions).

ST JOHN'S ARC (01279) 442447
St John's Walk, Old Harlow

>>music Music-lovers can enjoy a taste of the exotic tomorrow (Friday) as the ARC plays host to a lunchtime marimba and frame drums recital from the Framed Resonance Duo. Doors open at 12.45pm for lunch and admission costs £4 (including food and drink).

>>art An exhibition featuring arts and crafts created by members of the Snaresbrook Arts Project runs until February 17 and is open from 10am-4pm. The group employs and supports adults with learning difficulties and will be selling many of the pieces on display to raise funds. Admission is free.

GATEHOUSE ARTS 07530 048739
West Gate, Harlow

>>photography Photographers with a keen eye for the creative are being invited to submit work for inclusion in the town centre gallery's next open exhibition in March. Framed pieces must be delivered to the gallery by February 19 accompanied by a £4 handling fee, with all works chosen being put on display from March 1-22. For more information or to download an application form, log on to www.gatehousearts.com.

THE GIBBERD GALLEY (01279) 446404
Harlow Civic Centre, Water Gardens

>>art A new exhibition of paintings and drawings by members of the Serendipity Art Group goes on display at the gallery tomorrow (Friday). Out And About features scenes from Harlow and its surrounding areas and runs until February 29. The gallery is open to the public from 9am-4.30pm and admission is free.

Dynamic exploration of a society at breaking point

REVIEW

Glass Ceiling
Moot House Players
Moot Hall, The Stow

BOLD, provocative and wildly inventive, Moot House Players' engaging exploration of the build-up to last year's UK riots packed a real emotional punch.

Written, directed and performed by six of the group's youngest members, this was an intriguing piece of contemporary theatre – playful in its manipulation of dramatic convention yet harrowing in its devastating denouement.

As Sam (a solid turn by Ben Hawkins) dreams of university and escaping the crushing mundanity of his small-town existence, his mates – gentle Rob (MHP newcomer Tyrone Samuels), volatile Harry (the brooding Nathan Ryan) and boorish Jay (the ever-impressive Dan Powell, who also directed) – seem content in sofa-bound apathy.

Living for the weekend routine of pizza, beer and inane banter, the trio are thrown into disarray by Sam's desire to leave. This acts as a catalyst for a seismic shift in the comfortable group dynamic they had all resigned themselves to fulfilling indefinitely.

With Rob then developing a crush on Harry's estranged girlfriend Louise (a fittingly fragile Kerry Rowland) and prompting her jealous ex to carelessly prompt Jay to do the unthinkable to keep them apart, it is only a matter of time until strained relationships reach breaking point – just as violence erupts on the streets outside and the rioting takes centre stage.

But where the play really stepped up a gear was in its skilful use of surrealistic interludes and satirical skits to break up the narrative and drip-feed politics into the mix, the most effective being a cutting parody of the political bluster and rhetoric spouted during the televised leaders' debate.

This sense of energetic unruliness was ideally complemented by the semi-improvised script, and while the talented cast were perhaps more at ease handling the comic scenes, the on-stage chemistry between characters remained palpable throughout.

Impressive, immersive and impassioned, Glass Ceiling was amateur theatre at its very best.

Pop by for a street dance spectacular

STILL haunted by that ill-advised breakdance routine at the office Christmas party?

Let the professionals show you how it should be done next week as the body-popping young members of Hip Hop Pop return to strut their stuff on The Playhouse stage.

Performers aged five-35 will show off their newly-honed street dance skills in three action-packed showcase performances.

Dance school owner Jenny Bator promised audiences a thrilling evening of family-friendly entertainment.

"The students have worked so hard this year and I am really proud of the show that they've helped produce," she said.

"It would be amazing to see local people supporting local youngsters and adults with such great talent. It will be an evening of great entertainment for everyone."

The show runs on Wednesday and Thursday next week. Performances start at 8pm on both nights, with an additional 6pm show on Thursday.

Tickets costing £11 (£9 concessions) can be purchased from the box office on (01279) 431945 or online at www.playhouseharlow.com.

Radcliffe lacks magical touch in chiller thriller

GHOST STORY: Daniel Radcliffe as Arthur Kipps in THE WOMAN IN BLACK

THE WOMAN IN BLACK certificate 12A, 1h35m

LESS is certainly more in this chilling film version of the celebrated novel by Susan Hill, which has been re-imagined as a television movie, a radio series and a hit stage play in the 30 years since its publication.

Working from a screenplay by Jane Goldman, director James Watkins delivers a cinematic ghost train that plunges the audience into the eerie silence of a haunted house as the film's mutton-chopped hero nervously wanders corridors with a flickering lamp to light the way. London solicitor Arthur Kipps (Daniel Radcliffe) is haunted by the death of his wife Stella (Sophie Stuckey) during child birth and he seeks refuge in his love for their three-year-old boy, Joseph (Misha Handley).

His work suffers as a consequence and Arthur's boss Mr Bentley (Roger Allam) makes clear the precariousness of his situation, growling: "We can't carry passengers; we're not a charity."

To prove himself, Arthur is despatched to the remote village of Crythin Gifford where he must attend to the papers of Alice Drablow, the recently deceased owner of Eel Marsh House.

The locals, including innkeeper Fisher (Shaun Dooley) and his wife (Mary Stockley), try to ward him off and advise him to go home to his son.

However, Arthur persists with the help of local landowner Mr Daily (Ciaran Hinds) and glimpses a mysterious woman (Liz White) dressed all in black, who is blamed for the deaths of children in the village.

The Woman In Black opens with a chilling scene of three girls committing suicide by jumping from the window of their attic playground and continues to unsettle until Radcliffe is compelled to speak.

In his first major role since hanging up his wand as Harry Potter, the 22-year-old actor is as wooden as the creaky floorboards in the godforsaken mansion and as soulless as the titular spectre.

His character's emotional torment fails to translate from the script to his inexpressive face and it's hard to accept Radcliffe as the doting father of a young son.

Expectations of unspeakable horrors around each darkened corner play havoc with frayed nerves and Watkins orchestrates some nice scares, accompanied by deafening bursts of composer Marco Beltrami's discordant score.

Watkins doesn't reveal too much of his malevolent spirit and a centrepiece sequence in a bog of choking mud leaves us gasping with air along with the characters.

Radcliffe's failings are highlighted by lively performances from Hinds and Janet McTeer, the latter playing Daily's deranged wife.

Disappointingly, the denouement errs heavily towards sentiment when much of the rest of the film has been permeated by dread.

THE MUPPETS certificate U, 1h50m

FOR more than 35 years Kermit The Frog, Miss Piggy and their fun-loving friends have been firmly engrained in our rose-tinted childhood memories with their slapstick routines and song and dance numbers.

The popularity of Jim Henson's creations has never waned thanks to endless repeats of the award-winning television series The Muppet Show, and subsequent film adventures including madcap re-imaginings of A Christmas Carol, Treasure Island and The Wizard Of Oz.

Now director James Bobin expertly taps into that nostalgia with The Muppets, a glorious throwback to the days of yore that sees the colourful critters facing an uncertain future in a world of technological advances and fleeting celebrity.

The film opens in Smalltown where a muppet called Walter (voiced by Peter Linz) lives with his human brother Gary (Segel), who is about to celebrate 10 years with his girlfriend Mary (Amy Adams). The trio visit Los Angeles where Walter discovers that scheming oil man Tex Richman (Chris Cooper) plans to bulldoze the Muppet Theater and drill for the black gold that lies beneath.

The only way to thwart Richman is to rally the troops, so Walter galvanises Kermit (Steve Whitmire), Miss Piggy (Eric Jacobson), Fozzie Bear (Jacobson again), Gonzo (Dave Goetz) and the gang into organising a televised appeal in the company of celebrity guests including Whoopi Goldberg and Selena Gomez.

A delightful new Toy Story short called Small Fry, in which Buzz Lightyear is locked inside a fast food restaurant and joins a support group for discarded meal toys, plays before the main feature.

It's the icing on an already delicious cake.

CHRONICLE Andrew Detmer (Dane DeHaan) is powerless to help his bedridden mother Karen (Bo Petersen) fight the terminal illness that has stripped away her dignity. He suffers in silence, weathering the beatings from his alcoholic father Richard (Michael Kelly) and persistent bullying at school. The film opens through the lens of an old-fashioned video camera which Andrew has just purchased to record each waking minute, in the hope this might protect him from his father's fists. Late one night, Andrew, his cousin and only friend Matt (Alex Russell) and high school golden boy Steve (Michael B Jordan) discover a strange artefact in a crater. Soon after, they are blessed with powers of flight, telekinesis and invulnerability. At first they employ the new-found abilities for laddish amusement, but once Andrew's deep-seated rage takes control of his powers, it's only a matter of time before the darkness completely envelops him.

A MONSTER IN PARIS The year is 1910 and Paris has been ravaged by floods. Cinema projectionist Emile (voiced by Jay Harrington) agrees to help truck driver Raoul (Adam Goldberg) make a delivery to a gargantuan greenhouse owned by a scientist. Raoul forces his way inside and begins fooling around with test tubes of strange liquid. There is a massive explosion and the resulting cloud of gases causes a flea to mutate to hulking proportions.

Your stars with Patrick Arundell
to guide you through the week ahead

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20
 Something unexpected can happen romantically.
 Involved? If someone else shows an interest, it can be nice to have your desirability reinforced.
 Solo? Someone may ask you out on a date. This invitation could come out of the blue, but what have you got to lose by going along? Any interest in metaphysics can grow.
 Call me for your love
 scope...

Libra Sept 24-Oct 23
 However much you have been trying to see someone's point of view, they may not be responding in kind. With Neptune relocating, it is going to be important for you to set out your boundaries, or they may come to expect this as the norm. With Saturn
 rewording in your sign, ensure you are
 conserving your energies.
 Call me for more...

Taurus Apr 21-May 21
 You may become very idealistic about what you want from your future, but then this may have been growing within you for near to a year.
 Now this will get much stronger. But with Saturn
 rewording in your work sector, you also have to be realistic about paying the bills. Yet something in your past can provide a clue to how. Call for more...

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22
 You may be enjoying the heightened tension that's permeating around the social and romantic parts
 of your situation.
 Although Neptune's move will augment a gentler dimension to loving in time, currently Mars is in an uncompromising mood. If things are bumpy, you may decide to retreat into yourself, and much things over. Call for more...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
 You can't take any form of affection for granted. Be it with your children, your partner or friends. Do work at it. Yet there can be part of you that wants to stand free of any obligations and this can draw you to new light-hearted friendships.
 It's also important to stay clear headed about a job offer. Get everything in writing. Call for more advice...

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21
 It may be a departure from your past, but you can find yourself becoming much more conscious of the benefits of a settled home life. This may have started to emerge last year, but creating your idyll will become more of a theme in the months and years to come. This week can also see some extra buzz in your love life. Call for more news...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
 A person you have found challenging
 at work, or unhelpful in the past, can turn out to be a real support this week, and you may find that they have a very different side to them. A financial advisor can also be a force for good. If you don't have one, speak to a few before you decide.
 You need to feel comfortable with your choice. Call for more...

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20
 The harsh realities
 of life rarely fade
 you, but now if you do need to step back and find your own personal escapism, your home and your imagination can be great ways to find a release, from now. You might also stumble upon a new hobby. Someone in the family may have got into a new interest which you find you can enjoy too. Call me for more...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
 There is so much to be gained by engaging with others Leo.
 You may even get a last minute invite to join a friend on holiday where another pal has suddenly pulled out. If you've been on something of a crash
 course around learning
 technology, keep at it,
 with application your skill-set can really grow by the summer. Call for more astral advice...

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19
 Your personal magnetism is very high from the middle of this week. This can trigger new love interest.
 Going for a meal can be great for a new date, or you may decide to spoil someone by cooking for them. Enter free competitions for you
 could well have a stroke of luck, or other unexpected fortune. You can shine with people.
 Call for more...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23
 If you have recently met someone, you might find that they have a rather more intense side to their nature than they have let on, or will be it you accessing your inner beast? Your sense of fun is often your best suit, but underneath this is a very earthy side that could now be unleashed. Things can get very spicy. Call for your love scope in full...

Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20
 Long term finances
 will need care in the next five months, but
 ironically you could do well this week. So the trick is going to be in not being too
 free and easy should you have a break. You might also find that someone has a secret crush on you. You may discover this from a sexy hint, or a surprise gift they spring on you. Call for more astral advice...

Four-bedroom detached on Newhall development

coverproperty

Location Crossway, Newhall, Harlow

Category Four-bed semi detached

Additional Conservatory, substantial kitchen/breakfast and utility area, en suite to master bedroom, garage

Guide price £340,000

Agent Mulberry Green Estates, Bayford Shop, Station Road, Old Harlow. Telephone (01279) 429423

THIS week's cover property is a four-bedroom semi detached property on the sought-after Newhall development in Harlow.

The house has been well maintained throughout by the current owners and is ready to move into with nothing to do.

Walk through the front door and you step into an entrance hallway which has doors leading to the lounge, kitchen and dining room. A staircase leads to the first floor.

The lounge has a double glazed window to the front aspect and doors to the conservatory.

There is a substantial open plan kitchen/breakfast and utility area. The kitchen has a comprehensive range of storage units while the utility area has space for a washing machine.

There is a door from the utility to a downstairs cloakroom.

The conservatory is accessible from both the lounge and utility area and has doors leading into the garden. The dining room also overlooks the front of the house.

On the first floor are two of the bedrooms, the family bathroom and stairs to the second floor. The master bedroom has an en-suite shower room and, like the second bedroom on this floor, overlooks the front of the house.

On the second floor are two further bedrooms with sloping ceilings and double glazed windows to both the front and rear.

The rear garden has been well maintained and to the side of the property is a detached garage with front and side access. There is also additional private parking to the front of garage.

Mulberry Green Estates has full detail of this property and can arrange a viewing on (01279) 429423.

Priced at £279,995

THIS charming period property is in Kingsdon Lane, a quiet area at the back of Potter Street, Harlow.

Forming part of a converted manor house, the property has three double bedrooms and has recently undergone a superb refit throughout. It now includes many fine fittings while retaining its period character.

There is a stylish, open plan kitchen/breakfast area leading through to an attractive lounge/diner with travertine stone floors.

Outside the property has allocated parking and landscaped enclosed garden.

Call Geoffrey Matthews Estates on (01279) 444988 for full details.

On the market for £269,995

DENBY Grange is in a great position on the Church Langley development and this detached house is a superb family home.

It has three spacious double bedrooms, with the master bedroom having the benefit of its own en-suite.

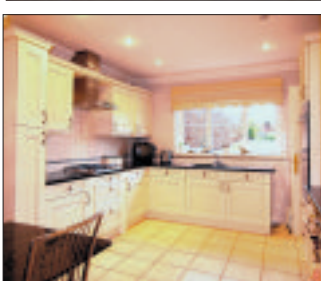

There is also a ground floor cloakroom and a light and bright kitchen.

The back garden is a good size and mainly laid to lawn with a paved patio area, raised borders with mixed trees and shrubs and an outside tap. There is also access to the garage.

Call Intercounty on (01279) 639666 for full details or to arrange a viewing.

Buy this for £599,950

WHEATFIELDS at New Bury Meadow in Hatfield Broad Oak comes with one-and-a-half acres and stabling,

The house has been beautifully maintained by the present owners and has four bedrooms, a good-size sitting room, separate dining room, study and a large kitchen breakfast room.

Local Property Comment

A Strange January

A strange start to a new year, the property market in Harlow was terrific although the majority of sales stayed below £250k with most of the sellers moving into rented or temporary homes, very few moving 'up the market'!

The hi-light of the month has to be the arrival of Grace, the first born for the lovely Ami, our Newhall lady, arrived on the 31st at a very healthy 7lbs 8oz, I think!

Sad news, though, a dear estate agency friend, Martyn Lecnor, who worked with us in the late 1980s very sadly passed away a couple of weeks ago from a distressing illness.

He was a gentleman, a fine person and an honest professional agent. He had a very successful agency in Stortford with Andrew Barber and I hope Andrew and his team continue Martyn's good work.

I wanted to say something else but have decided not to comment further.

In any market, the conversation often revolves around the likely future of house prices. Will they go up, will they go down, will they remain stable?

Even the most credible authorities tend to disagree on the direction of property prices and sales volumes, so where does that leave the humble consumer? Baffled!

The problem is the source of data that is used to make assumptions about the market is fickle. For example, you could look at the latest Land Registry figures. These record the volumes and prices of sales that completed up to a year after the sale was arranged. But a lot can happen in that time – tax, economic data, interest rate changes and media influence can make a vast difference to buyer sentiment!

You could look at the figures supplied by property portals such as Rightmove. These can be a more accurate reflection of the current situation because they interpret the relationship between the changes in the number of properties on the market and average asking prices, and the number of buyers registering within the previous month. Of course, asking prices are no reflection of sale prices!

Then there are the figures provided by various estate agency chains. However, some of these can be biased because that agency might only specialise in a specific sector.

As estate agents, we have to be acutely aware of what is happening in the Harlow market at a given point in time. We have a huge responsibility to get it right for our clients first time, and we take that responsibility very seriously. Ultimately, we find that the most reliable indicators lie in our ability to interpret the needs and comments of our buyers at local level. After all, it is today's buyers who determine the current value of your property!

Geoffrey Matthew held their Annual Awards at the Harlow branch on Tuesday 31st January 2012. The Awards are an internal competition between all three offices and highlight the best achievers within the Company in 2011. The awards being presented were Best Valuer, Best Rental Team, Best Mortgage Advisor and Negotiator of the Year 2011.

Matt Dixon, the Company Director said 'these awards are an accolade to the individuals and teams that have really excelled and produced the best figures across the company. It was fantastic to see that Harlow picked up Best Sales team, Best Rentals Team, Best Mortgage Advisor and Best Branch, out of the whole group.

To pick up the prestigious award "Negotiator of the Year 2011" was Billy Smith, who fought off 12 other contenders.

Matt Dixon says 'Billy has proven to be an outstanding asset to the Company with his consistent ability to achieve high results!'

Billy Smith says 'I am delighted to pick up this award! This award means a lot to me. Geoffrey Matthew is a great company to work for. It really shakes and moves and I have been led to really excel my true capabilities to the trade! I knew I had done well last year but to pick up the silverware and a bonus is something else! I'm as happy as Larry!!'

Billy has got his head back down as he knows, he has got a title that the rest of the company are fighting for. Well done Billy!

Like many couples, Victoria Stallworthy and Mathew Baxter didn't believe they could afford to secure their first home; that was until they learnt about Barratt Homes' first-time buyer scheme.

Victoria (22) and Mathew (22) had been saving for their first home since they began their professional careers. The pair had both been living with their respective parents and despite saving £10,000 they still couldn't afford to raise a large enough deposit for their first home.

Victoria, who works for a High Street bank, explained: "Mathew and I were keen to get on the property ladder, but despite saving ever since we left school we still didn't have a large enough deposit.

We thought that securing a property was some years off until by chance, we heard about Barratt Homes' first-time buyer scheme. We decided to visit and were absolutely delighted when we learnt that not only could we afford to buy, we could also afford a larger home."

FirstBuy is a fantastic new scheme that is opening up the property market to first-time buyers like Victoria and Mathew. With FirstBuy, purchasers will be offered an interest-free loan of up to 20 percent of the price of a property, which is jointly funded by Barratt Homes and the Homes and Communities Agency (HCA). Purchasers then only need to find the remaining 80 percent of the price themselves. Up to 76 percent of this could be a mortgage, leaving a deposit of just four percent.

Victoria, continued: "There is no doubt that without FirstBuy we were looking at least another two years of hard saving and living apart. In the end, having waited so long to buy, it all happened remarkably quickly."

Victoria and Mathew are delighted with their new home and feel they made the right choice buying with Barratt.

Victoria, commented: "After learning about Barratt's first-time buyer scheme, we took a look at other new-build developments in the area offering similar incentives.

However, it became clear quite quickly that the homes on offer from Barratt were much more spacious and better quality than the rest. In addition, the loan from Barratt Homes was interest free and that just wasn't the case with other developers, so financially it stacked-up."

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Top Thames Trot times

INTREPID Harlow Running Club members Steve Ambrose and David Ayling completed the arduous Thames Trot Ultra 50-mile race in superb times.

The event took competitors along the banks and towpaths of England's largest river, the Thames, from Oxford to Henley.

Both runners crossed the finish line together in 54th place out of 223 finishers in a fantastic time of 7 hours, 56 minutes and 57 seconds.

Meanwhile, at the Gunpowder Park Run 5km race at Waltham Abbey, Harlow's Paul Jeffrey-Read finished in an excellent second place in a personal best (PB) time for the distance of 19:04.

Club-mate Marc Lowers was 6th in 20:54, also a PB.

Happy anniversary

Chapman said respect is crucial in management and was not overawed when he took over.

"The biggest thing about management is about getting the best out of your players at all times. Some players need an arm around shoulders, some need a rucking," he said.

"I know what players go through and there is a mutual respect between me and the players. When we took over we were 13th or 14th. We always knew the players were there.

"They needed to be channelled and once we got that, we went 16 games unbeaten.

"Unfortunately we were not promoted. We made changes in the summer. I think we can get promotion this time."

Katie seals national championships spot

FOURTEEN-year-old Harlow Athletic Club member Katie Templeton-Knight competed in the East Anglia Independent Schools Association Cross Country Championships.

The youngster represented St Nicholas School, based in Old Harlow, and achieved a magnificent 4th spot in the 3km event at Halstead, Essex.

She was just yards short of the silver medal winner in an extremely tight race. Katie now moves on to represent the >>cross country

East Anglia region in the English National Cross Country Championships at Rugby, Warwickshire on Saturday March 3.

Meanwhile, at Basildon in the South East of England Inter Counties Championships on Saturday, Harlow AC member Rosie Poole represented Essex when she competed in the junior girls

(U-15s) race over 3.4km.

The Stewards School student was 18th in a time of 13 minutes and 32 seconds. She was the third scorer for Essex.

Rosie has now qualified for Essex in the All-England Schools Championships. In the same race at Basildon, Harlow's Jodi Ratcliff (Mark Hall School) was 51st in 14.01.

In the intermediate girls race (U-17s, 4.6km), Amelia Barrett (Burnt Mill School) ran a brilliant 4th in 17:07.

The Huckle buck

Two GB records give shooter confidence for Euros

By DAVID RIMMER
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

JAMES Huckle is in record-breaking form as he aims to book an Olympics spot when he competes in the European Championships in Finland.

The 21 year-old, from Old Harlow, will take part in the men's 10m air rifle event in Vierumaeki.

This contest runs from Tuesday (February 14) to Monday February 20.

He said: "If I can get into the

MAKING PROGRESS: Harlow's James Huckle when he returned with a haul of medals from the 2010 Commonwealth Games in India top 10 I will have a good chance of getting a quota place [to represent Great Britain at the London Olympics].

"Some of the shooters who finish in the top 10 will already have a quota place [for the Olympics]."

The 10m air rifle discipline is not Huckle's speciality, but he set two personal bests when he competed in a competition at The Hague in the Netherlands last weekend.

He set a new senior British international record score of 698.8 points (out of a total of 709 available) when he earned a bronze in the final, the best score of his career.

He said: "The 698.8 was good to do in a final when the pressure is on. This is what I need to do in the future."

Previously, Huckle had secured a British record score of 598 points (out of 600 points) to come second.

Former Mark Hall School student Huckle said: "The 598 was very good. It was only two short of the perfect score and was a big jump from 594 which was my previous best."

"It was one of those days when I was shooting very well. I was just concentrating on my technique and not worrying about the score."

He added: "At this moment in time leading up to the Finland competition it puts me in a great place, setting two British records."

Huckle also scored 593 (out of 600) in the first 10m air rifle qualifying heat, taking third.

Lampe to light up Hawks

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman may bring in ex-Harlow Town centre-half Jack Lampe for their home clash against Redbridge in Ryman League division one north.

Chapman is looking for cover for Ryan Kirby who is suspended for the game this Saturday. Kirby was sent off following two yellow cards in Harlow's 3-0 home defeat against Leiston 12 days ago.

Lampe who played for Harlow briefly in 2008-09 in the Ryman premier division before having a spell at West Ham United, has been signed by Bishop's Stortford but could come out on loan.

Chapman said: "We could look to bring in Lampe for one game only or we might get the lad Jack Dekanski from Leyton Orient."

"However, I might go with Donny Barnard in central defence with Jack Haverson and having Mark Taylor at right-back."

Midfielder Leon Lalite is serving the third of a three-game suspension, while midfielder Getro Kilapi could be in contention after recovering from a knee injury.

Defender Lamar Lemonius (knee) is still out.

Earlier this season Redbridge had a fantastic FA Cup run, reaching the second round proper.

Chapman said: "They had a fantastic Cup run. They have had a couple of indifferent results but they are a good side and I think they can be there or thereabouts by the end of the season."

"It's not going to be easy and we are going to have to be on the top of our game. I know they have good width to their game and get the ball down the sides and like to get the ball into the box. They have a player who has a good, long throw so we will have to be organised for that."

Club mourns Wiseman death

FORMER Harlow Town vice-chairman Bill Wiseman has died at the age of 67.

Wiseman died at St Margaret's Hospital in Epping last Thursday after he suffered a stroke.

Wiseman, from Harlow, became fixtures secretary at Harlow Town FC in 1980 and held that position for more than 10 years.

He was later attached to Bishop's Stortford FC and Thurrock FC before he returned to Harlow a few years ago, firstly as a director and then as vice-chairman.

Former Hawks chairman Steve Ray first knew him during the 1970s.

The pair met when they were serving officers on the Harlow & District Football League.

Ray joined Harlow in July 1980 on Wiseman's recommendation.

Ray said: "It's sad him passing. It has still not sunk in. He was a larger than life character and was fun to be around."

"He was well known on the non-League football circuit. He did a lot of work in football and he had a wicked sense of humour. He also refereed at a good level."

Wiseman worked at the County Court office in Harlow.

He is survived by wife Pat, two children and three grandchildren.

The funeral will be held at Parndon Wood Crematorium in Harlow on Friday February 17 at 1pm. Family flowers only.

Selections for Friday (February 10):

7.30pm Cocobola; 7.47pm Jules Miracle; 8.04pm Precious Gold; 8.21pm Jhan (NB); 8.38pm Dods Mover; 8.54pm Toofan; 9.10pm Flying Freddie (NAP); 9.26pm Switch On Son; 9.43pm Amazon Warrior; 10pm Clonoulty Honda.

BATTS centre to host new Jewish league

THE renowned BATTS venue in Old Harlow has landed a prestigious new tournament.

Already hosting British Table Tennis League matches, the club - which plays out of the Norman Booth Leisure Centre in Elderfield - will host the first ever National Synagogue Table Tennis Championships on March 11 in association with Maccabi GB.

The Championships mark the start of a new National Synagogue Table Tennis League, which will be launched at the event.

The league aims to support the many table tennis players of the Jewish faith and encourage more to take part in the sport, and interact with people from across the UK Jewish community.

The event features an

Under-17 and Open event and is aimed at players of all ages and abilities, whether club standard, those who previously played the sport and want to rediscover it, or participants who have never picked up a bat but wish to turn their hands to a new skill.

The Championship and the League will be sponsored by Maccabi GB as part of its Sports op the sport within the community.

A number of synagogues have expressed an interest in competing, from Manchester to London and beyond.

BATTS (Booth Academy of Table Tennis) has been based at Elderfield, since 2006 after it moved away from its previous home at Burnt Mill School in Second Avenue.

Known as one of the leading clubs in the South East of England, the cream of British table tennis regularly play at the Old Harlow hub.

This new venture is likely to attract even greater numbers, boosting its reputation as one of the top venues for table tennis in the country.

Adam Black, co-founder of the new league, said: "We've got everyone from England players, Maccabiah medalists, grandads and kids playing table tennis in the community."

"There used to be local Jewish leagues all over the UK. Now for the first time we're running a national one."

"We have all knocked a ball around, now we want to provide people with the opportunity to play the game regularly and meet other members of our community who enjoy it like they do."

"This event is not only for elite players but for everyone. It's a great chance for the community to get together in a completely new way."

Synagogues are invited to enter a team of three or four players.

Entry is limited.

To register your interest in the event or for more information, call Adam Black on 07977 415 127 or email nsttl@hotmail.com

Happy anniversary

Boss celebrates one year in charge of HTFC

DANNY Chapman is proud of what he has achieved in his first year as Harlow Town manager.

The 30 year-old, below, took over the managerial reins after Kevin Warren stepped aside in January 2011 to concentrate on a scouting and youth development role at the Hawks.

Chapman was promoted from assistant to manager with player-coach Christian Wheeler operating as his number two.

At the time, the team were floundering in mid-table in Ryman League division one north.

However, under Chapman the tide was turned and the team secured a play-off spot on the back of a 16-match unbeaten run.

Harlow lost 4-2 after extra time at Wingate & Finchley in the play-off semi-finals, but are again in contention for promotion this term.

Chapman, who started his football career at Leyton Orient, said: "It has been a fantastic year for me personally and I have thoroughly enjoyed it."

"As a player I was never one for thinking about being involved in the management side of things."

He added: "Not a lot of people would have thought of me being in management. I have learned a lot in the last year and [I have] a lot more to learn still."

Chapman, a London black cab driver, was a combative centre-half who made over 230 cup and league appearances for Harlow, making his last appearance in 2010.

He has found management an eye-opener.

"When I was assistant to Kevin Warren it was always busy. When I took over as a manager I did not realise the work that goes on," he said.

"The phone is buzzing, you have things to arrange. It's like having another full-time job. Because I enjoy it so much you just do it and get on with it."

Chapman paid tribute to the backing he gets from Hawks co-owner Tom Cunningham and chairman John Barnett, plus Wheeler.

"I have Tom Cunningham there [and that's] massive help. He has been there and done it. I have known John Barnett since I was at Barnet and they always try and get something if I want it," he said.

"It's not all about me. I work with Tom Cunningham and Christian Wheeler."

Snow what was your score? I got a brrrirdie!

IT wasn't just golf clubs that were shut earlier this week, as the icy conditions caused havoc with the weekend's sports fixtures.

The entire Ryman League division one north programme was wiped out due to frozen pitches, including Harlow Town's game at Heybridge Swifts.

Swifts' Scraley Road pitch failed a 10.30am inspection on Saturday.

Canons Brook Golf Club in Harlow was shut most of the week.

Frozen pitches also caused the crucial RFU London division three north east match between leaders Holt and second-placed Harlow to be postponed.

This has been rescheduled for this coming Saturday at Ram Gorse, but remains a doubt as the harsh conditions continue.

All the local football was also wiped out, along with Harlow's hockey programme.

Even though the clubs play on all-weather pitches, when they are frozen, it becomes a health and safety issue when the temperature plunges so low.

With more snow due, this coming weekend's fixtures are also under threat.

Hawks handed Plate final spot

THE Harlow Hawks gained a pre-match boost for this weekend's big National Founders Cup game – after they were handed a walkover victory to reach the Herts County Plate final.

Last Friday's scheduled semi-final opponents Aylesbury Dux forfeited the game, giving Harlow a 20-0 victory, as the Buckinghamshire side did not have enough players to start the game within 15 minutes of the initial tip-off time of 8:30pm.

Aylesbury required five players for the game to be started but only three were present for the match at leisurezone in Harlow.

Hawks player-coach Shab Niaz, whose side host Bedford Bulls in their final National Founders Cup group game this Saturday, explained: "They [Dux] received confirmation that only one other was on the way, so had no option but to forfeit."

"It's not the ideal way to reach a final but at the same time we are in the final, which will be on Sunday February 26 at Queens School, Bushey, Watford."

The tip-off time for the final is 11:15am.

Niaz is now concentrating on Saturday's mouth watering tie.

"Our focus now has to switch to another big game this weekend when we host Bedford Bulls in our final group game of the National Founders Cup at leisurezone."

"If we win then it should be sufficient to secure a top two finish in the group and go through to the knockout rounds."

"With it being our final group game we are promoting the game as free entry for all and hope to get a large crowd."

The doors open at 7pm and tip-off is 7:25pm."
